Preface

The Pittsburgh public schools and the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, since the organization of the latter, have striven jointly and constantly to bring the pupils in the schools into close touch with good books. The Library was opened to the public in November 1895. Soon thereafter arrangements were made for teachers and principals of schools within the city limits to draw a number of volumes for class use. These books were drawn directly from the shelves of the Loan department and charged on schoolroom cards. The demand increased steadily and the Library found within two or three years that these calls could no longer satisfactorily be met from the shelves of the regular Loan collection, because the books most needed by the schools were so much in demand, and the calls coming from so many sources, that the volumes were too rarely upon the shelves. Therefore in December 1898 the Library set apart, for school use only, a special collection of duplicate copies of the most attractive books suitable for the purpose. That collection of duplicates formed the basis for this work and, with necessary changes and frequent additions, has been in active use in the schools of the city since that time.

In December 1899, at the invitation of the Pittsburgh Principals' Association, the librarian, Mr Edwin H. Anderson, addressed its members and urged that steps be taken to have the work of the Library with the schools more thoroughly organized and systematized. The principals were not less eager than the librarian to have this done, and a committee was at once appointed to coöperate with the librarian and his assistants in the preparation of a carefully selected and graded list of books most suitable for school use, apart from the ordinary text-books. To the general committee were added nine sub-committees to cover the following subjects: Art, Geography, History, Language, General literature, Kindergarten, Pedagogy, Nature and High School reading. Each of the nine committees submitted a graded list covering its special field and, with the exception of the language list, the classification in the catalogue conformed to the divisions made by the committee. Instead of making a separate language sub-division, all books included in the list having a generally recognized literary value were marked with the asterisk.

The "Graded and Annotated Catalogue of Books in the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh for the use of the City Schools" was issued in December 1900 and the edition exhausted early in 1902. A demand for copies, however, has continued up to the present time and this revision of the lists prepared for school grades one to eight inclusive is now issued to meet that demand in part. The list of books intended for use in the High schools has been omitted, as well as the various lists of reference books for teachers, because it appears that these lists will be more convenient if issued as a separate publication. Out-of-print books have been omitted from the lists here presented and new titles added. Teachers in the Pittsburgh Schools have given freely of their time to aid in the work of revision, and the grading in the new edition is therefore based on their experience. In the selection of books to be included teachers and authorities on special subjects have been consulted and particular attention has been paid to the choice of editions, having regard both to text and to illustrations.

As in the earlier edition, the title and annotation for each book is repeated in every grade to which the index assigns it. This arrangement adds greatly to the size of the catalogue as well as to the labor of preparing it, but it enables the teachers to use each grade as a complete list without referring elsewhere for the annotations. There has been no attempt to furnish anything in the nature of supplementary text-book reading as a part of the routine school work. The aim has been, rather, to provide collateral reading in history, biography, travel, adventure, simple science and good fiction to be used in the school room and sent into the homes of the children. It is hoped that the annotations, which are made chiefly for the teachers and from their standpoint, may help them in guiding the children in their choice of books, and in fitting the right book to the right child.

At present the collection for school use consists of about 20,000 volumes, comprising some 2,412 titles. It is administered by a supervisor of work with schools and forms a bureau or division of the Children's department of the Library. The supervisor visits the schools, studies their needs and loans collections of books for the school year to public, private and parochial schools. During the past year sixty-six were supplied with books in this way. The books are used by the teachers in their class-rooms and loaned by them to the children for home reading. A full record of the class-room use made of these books is not feasible but a partial count kept last year showed that 143,845 volumes were so used. To this number is to be added the record of home circulation from the same collection, namely 81,803 volumes, making a total recorded use amounting to 225,648 for the collection. The following table shows the home circulation of books loaned to children through the schools for the past nine years:

Year	Circulation
1898–1899	826
1899–1900	31,049
1900–1901	39,138
1901–1902	59,630
1902–1903	63,505
1903–1904	88,393
1904–1905	79,645
1905–1906	90,023
1906–1907	81,803
Total	534,012

At the Central Library building, in addition to the Children's Reading Room, there is in preparation a separate study room for school children, which is to be furnished with maps, globes, atlases and reference books particularly suited to their needs. In close connection therewith is provided also a special reference room for teachers, which is to contain one copy of each book in the school duplicate collection and also a pedagogical and text-book collection. It is hoped that these will prove a valuable aid both to the schools and to the Library in the work toward which this catalogue is one step, namely placing in the hands of the children in our schools the best books only.

ANDERSON H. HOPKINS,
Librarian.

1 November 1907.

Approval by the Pittsburgh Principals' Association

The Public Schools of Pittsburgh recognize in the Carnegie Library a most helpful and permanent ally in every department of school work. This catalogue of books for children is especially appreciated by the school workers because it indicates definitely and fully the literature so essential in the development of intelligence, character and general culture. The careful grading of the books listed, the complete annotation for ready and convenient reference, and withal, the high character of the reading matter recommended for the several grades, make this publication a most valuable schoolroom guide. A copy of it should be found on every teacher's desk, and from its proper use should be developed the habit and the inclination on the part of the pupils to read the books of genuine worth in elementary education.

The substantial benefit derived from the former catalogue is gratefully acknowledged by teachers and pupils. This later work, thoroughly revised and brought down to date, should be still more helpful as a factor in schoolroom culture.

Therefore, in behalf of the Public Schools we desire to record our unqualified approval of this work by the Library authorities, and to express the hope that the outcome shall be an adequate appreciation of the educative spirit of the Library's management and a due recognition of its inestimable benefits to the youth of Pittsburgh.

COMMITTEE: J. M. BERKEY, Oakland Schools, Chairman
J. M. LOGAN, Peebles School
MARGARET A. FREW, Colfax School
R. M. CARGO, Mt. Washington School
JOSEPH JENNINGS, South School

Endorsement by the City Superintendent of Schools

I most heartily concur with the Principals' Association in the approval of this excellent work. The good results predicted from the catalogue issued in 1900 have been fully realized. The suggested use of juvenile literature so well outlined in that publication has broadened our school work, vitalized interest in general reading, and laid the foundation for more intelligent thought along all lines. I confidently expect, therefore, that this revised and improved catalogue will bring to our schools still greater good in the education of our boys and girls.

SAMUEL ANDREWS,
City Superintendent of Schools.

*Under the window. Warne, $1.50.....j821 G83u Picture-book with verses.
"Since Stothard, no one has given us such a clear-eyed, soft-faced, happy-hearted childhood...Added to this, the old-world costume in which [Miss Greenaway] usually elects to clothe her characters, lends an arch piquancy...Her taste in tinting, too, is very sweet and spring-like; and there is a fresh, pure fragrance about all her pictures as of new-gathered nosegays." Andrew Lang.

Headland, Isaac Taylor, tr.
Chinese Mother Goose rhymes. Revell, $1.25.....j398 H38
Over a hundred nursery ditties and jolly jingles translated from the Chinese. It is a delightful book to look at, for on every page are rolling, tumbling, playing Chinese children.

Hoffmann, Heinrich.
Slovenly Peter; or, Cheerful stories and funny pictures. Winston, $1.50.....qjH6812s
There is a difference of opinion about this German child classic. The pictures are too highly colored to please some critics, but they amuse children, and the characters are so often alluded to in other books that they ought to be familiar to all young readers.

General Literature

Æsop.

*Fables; told anew and their history traced by Joseph Jacobs. Macmillan, $1.50 ..... j888 A25f1

Some of the fables are: The wolf and the lamb.—The lion's share.—The frogs desiring a king.—The goose with the golden eggs.—Belling the cat. Especially adapted to committing to memory and reading aloud.

The name of Æsop, the slave of Samos, is so identified with the fable in literature, that almost all the fables that have appeared in the western world have been sheltered at one time or another under the shadow of his name. In the struggle for existence among all these fables a certain number stand out as the most effective and familiar. These Mr Jacobs has brought together in this most attractive little volume.

Alcott, Louisa May.

"The latest good genius of children's book illustrations is Mr. Randolph Caldecott, a designer assuredly of the very first order. There is a spontaneity of fun, and unforced invention about everything he does, that is infinitely entertaining. Other artists draw to amuse us; Mr. Caldecott seems to draw to amuse himself,—and this is his charm." Andrew Lang.

Carroll, Lewis, (pseud. of Charles Lutwidge Dodgson).

*Alice's adventures in Wonderland. Macmillan, $1.00.....jC233a

The most delightful of all nonsense books and one that has already become a classic. By following a White Rabbit down into a rabbit-hole, Alice finds herself in Wonderland. Her mistakes at first nearly cause her to drown in her own tears, but afterward she meets many queer animal friends besides the King and Queen of Hearts, a crusty old Duchess, a mad Hatter, a sleepy Dormouse, and a March Hare, with whom she has strange experiences.

*Through the looking-glass, and what Alice found there. Macmillan, $1.00.....jC233t

More adventures of Alice in Wonderland.

Cary, Alice, & Cary, Phœbe.

*Ballads for little folk. Houghton, $1.50.....j811 C24b

Alice and Phœbe Cary were born in a farmhouse in the West and in their poems for children they picture the old homestead, their playmates, the flowers, the insects and the animals which they loved so well. Some of the children's favorites are: Three bugs.—Suppose.—The prairie on fire.—They didn't think.—A legend of the Northland.

The rhythm is simple and suited to children and there is usually a pleasant moral.

Pratt, Mara L.

American history stories. 4v. Educational Publishing Co., $.40 each. j973 P88

v.1. Stories of the colonial period.
v.2. Stories of the Revolutionary period.

Pratt, Mara L.—continued.

v.3. Stories of the United States till 1860.
v.4. Stories of the Civil war.
Mainly anecdotes and incidents—not connected history. These books interest young children and are calculated to inculcate patriotism. The literary style counts for little, the illustrations are very poor, and when it comes to the question of accuracy, it is often a question as to what is history, what tradition and what purely imagination.

America's story for America's children. 5v. Heath, v.1, $.35; v.2–5, $.40 each.....j973 P88a

v.1. The beginner's book. Contains short stories of the Norse explorers, Prince Montezuma, Virginia Dare, Betty Alden, the Boston boys, the boy in blue, etc.
v.2. Stories of the great discoverers and explorers from Leif Ericson to Henry Hudson.
v.3. About the early colonial settlers and their primitive ways of living.
v.4. About the adventurous explorers of the Mississippi valley and the French and Indian war.
v.5. Stories of the American revolution.
Mainly incidents arranged chronologically. Told in a way that interests small children but with the same faults as "American history stories."

Cortes and Montezuma. Educational Publishing Co., $.50. .....j973.1 P88

Language simple. Illustrations not many, but appropriate.

De Soto, Marquette and La Salle. Educational Publishing Co., $.50.....j920 P88

Story of the Mississippi and its discoverers.

The wonderful story of the conquest of Peru by the Spaniards, written for younger children.

The great West. Educational Publishing Co., $.50.....j978 P88

Prof. E. E. Sparks says of this book, "It well serves as an introduction to the later study of United States history, being arranged chronologically from the mound-builders and Indians through the stories of Texas and California to the building of the Union Pacific Railroad."
Contains some Indian folk-lore.

Stories of colonial children. Educational Publishing Co., $.60.....j973.2 P88

Partial contents: Two babies of long ago.—First Thanksgiving day.—Colonial children's Sabbath.—The boy captive.—How Jack o' Lantern frightened the Indians.—Two brass kettles.—Boston boys.—A daring girl.—Col. Allan and his boys.—A little hero.
The large type, simple language and good illustrations make these stories of colonial days, ways and children very popular with the youngest readers.

Stories of old Rome. Educational Publishing Co., $.60....j937 P88

Partial contents: Founding of Rome.—Sabine women.—Tarquin the Proud.—Horatius at the bridge.—Battle of Lake Regillus.—Coriolanus.—Invasion of the Gauls.—Androcles and the lion.—Punic wars.—The Gracchi.—Spartacus, the gladiator.—Cataline's conspiracy.—Literature of Rome.—Constantine the Great.

Contents: Columbus. — George Washington. — William Penn. — Israel Putnam.—Benjamin Franklin.

General Literature

Æsop.

*Fables; told anew and their history traced by Joseph Jacobs. Macmillan, $1.50.....j888 A25f1

Some of the fables are: The wolf and the lamb.—The lion's share.—The frogs desiring a king.—The goose with the golden eggs.—Belling the cat. Especially adapted to committing to memory and reading aloud.

The name of Æsop, the slave of Samos, is so identified with the fable in literature, that almost all the fables that have appeared in the western world have been sheltered at one time or another under the shadow of his name. In the struggle for existence among all these fables a certain number stand out as the most effective and familiar. These Mr Jacobs has brought together in this most attractive little volume.

A companion volume to "Fairy tales from the Arabian nights."

The fairy tales which the people of Asia, Arabia and Persia used to tell. The events are supposed to have happened in the reign of the great caliph, Haroun al Raschid, 786–808 A. D. It was not until the reigns of Queen Anne and George I that the people of England and France read them, for they were then translated into French by M. Galland. From the French they were translated into all languages and this edition is from Galland's version. The poetry and a great deal that was dull and stupid is left out, and there are many illustrations.

Aspinwall, Mrs Alicia.

Echo-maid, and other stories. Dutton, $1.50.....jA841e

The other stories are: In the land of the Wee-uns.—The big light on Burning mountain.—A leap-year boy.

Refreshingly original fairy tales told in exceptionally vigorous, straightforward English.

*Short stories for short people. Dutton, $1.50.....jA841s

Humorous stories about a squash vine that grew miles in an hour, a disobedient island that was nearly drowned, and other wonders. Col. Higginson says in a preface to this book, "These stories are bits of that pure imagination of which the best types are to be found in Grimm's collection of German household tales, and of which the line was so well continued by Hans Andersen."

Ogden, Ruth, (pseud. of Mrs Frances Otis (Ogden) Ide).

His little royal highness. Dutton, $1.25.....jO172h

A story full of a sweet charitable spirit telling of the part taken by a little girl and two little boys in nursing sailors. The children have many good times and all sorts of adventures at the seaside.

Little queen of hearts. Stokes, $1.00.....jO172l

The "little queen of hearts" was a very winning little American girl who made friends with Queen Victoria.

Loyal little red-coat. Stokes, $1.00.....jO172lo

Boys and girls of Revolutionary days could have just as good times with circuses and picnics as the boys and girls of to-day, and a loyal little red-coat and a loyal little American could be the best of friends, as is told in this story of Hazel Boniface and Job Star-light.

Otis, James, (pseud. of James Otis Kaler).

Mr Stubbs's brother. Harper, $.60.....jO314m

A monkey story. Sequel to "Toby Tyler."

Toby Tyler; or, Ten weeks with a circus. Harper, $.60....jO314t

A runaway boy's adventures with a traveling circus. The title might suggest that this would not be the best sort of a story for young people, but it is really harmless, and appeals strongly to a boy's sense of humor.

This story created such an excitement, while running as a serial, that it is said the editor of "Harper's young people" frequently received letters containing money which children had sent, in good earnest, to Toby Tyler to buy something to eat.

Among the camps; or, Young people's stories of the war.

Scribner, $1.50.....jP145a

Story of Lincoln; for children. Public School, $.35....j92 L715cr
Very simply and briefly told.

Dickens, Charles.

*Child's history of England. Dutton, $2.50.....j942 D55
This is, of course, one of the standards. Dickens is of the class of historians that Macaulay had in mind when he speaks of "the qualifications of the perfect historian." Dickens did have the imagination sufficiently powerful to make his narrative affecting and picturesque, but he did not have it under that control which contented itself with the materials at hand, nor could he always refrain from supplying deficiencies by additions of his own.

Drake, Francis Samuel.

Indian history for young folks. Harper, $3.00.....j970.1 D78
About King Philip, Pontiac, Tecumseh, Weatherford, Black Hawk and other Indian chiefs and their wars with the white settlers.
Prof. Hodge, of the Bureau of American ethnology, disapproves of the first chapter which is entitled "What we know about American Indians." The book on the whole, however, is interesting, fairly accurate and contains many illustrations and a map of the United States showing the Indian reservation.

Eggleston, Edward.

Excellent stories, covering history of the various sections of the United States.

Foa, Mme Eugénie.

Boy life of Napoleon, afterwards emperor of the French; adapted and extended for American boys and girls by E. S. Brooks. Lothrop & Lee, $1.25.....j92 N129f
About his childhood in Corsica, his life at the military school in Brienne, as a "king's scholar" in Paris, and as lieutenant of an artillery regiment. Madame Foa's work was written 40 years ago; she was at that time a popular writer of historical stories and sketches for boys and girls in France. The present story has been adapted from the French original and enlarged in the light of recent research. For an interesting life of Napoleon read Seeley's "Short history of Napoleon I."

Froissart, Jean.

*Stories from Froissart; ed. by Henry Newbolt. Macmillan, $1.50.....j940.4 F96s

American history stories. 4v. Educational Publishing Co., $.40 each.....j973 P88
v.1. Stories of the colonial period.
v.2. Stories of the Revolutionary period.
v.3. Stories of the United States till 1860.
v.4. Stories of the Civil war.
Mainly anecdotes and incidents—not connected history. These books interest young children and are calculated to inculcate patriotism. The literary style counts for little, the illustrations are very poor, and when it comes to the question of accuracy, it is often a question as to what is history, what tradition and what purely imagination.

America's story for America's children. 5v. Heath, v.1, $.35; v.2–5, $.40 each.....j973 P88a
v.1. The beginner's book. Contains short stories of the Norse explorers, Prince Montezuma, Virginia Dare, Betty Alden, the Boston boys, the boy in blue, etc.
v.2. Stories of the great discoverers and explorers from Leif Ericson to Henry Hudson.
v.3. About the early colonial settlers and their primitive ways of living.
v.4. About the adventurous explorers of the Mississippi valley and the French and Indian war.
v.5. Stories of the American revolution.
Mainly incidents arranged chronologically. Told in a way that interests small children but with the same faults as "American history stories."

A companion volume to "Fairy tales from the Arabian nights."

The fairy tales which the people of Asia, Arabia and Persia used to tell. The events are supposed to have happened in the reign of the great caliph, Haroun al Raschid, 786–808 A. D. It was not until the reigns of Queen Anne and George I that the people of England and France read them, for they were then translated into French by M. Galland. From the French they were translated into all languages and this edition is from Galland's version. The poetry and a great deal that was dull and stupid is left out, and there are many illustrations.

MacDonald, George.

*At the back of the north wind. Blackie, 3s. 6d.....jM146at

*Light princess, and other fairy tales. Putnam, $1.75.....jM146l

*Princess and the goblin. Blackie, 3s. 6d.....jM146pr

Mr MacDonald in his fairy tales teaches spiritual truths through allegories. It is to be wished that he had made the meaning of his allegories plainer to the reader. It is hard sometimes to distinguish the allegory from the flights of fancy.

The reader rises, however, from the reading with a stronger faith in things unseen and a deep feeling of the inadequacy of things mundane. Mr MacDonald's stories remind one of cathedrals, where purity and silence reign within, while the evil spirits, in hideous and fantastic shapes, cling lingeringly among the cornices and buttresses without.

Macé, Jean.

perilous adventures, the courage and the sacrifices of the daring troopers of the plains.

Dickens, Charles.

*Child's history of England. Dutton, $2.50.....j942 D55

This is, of course, one of the standards. Dickens is of the class of historians that Macaulay had in mind when he speaks of "the qualifications of the perfect historian." Dickens did have the imagination sufficiently powerful to make his narrative affecting and picturesque, but he did not have it under that control which contented itself with the materials at hand, nor could he always refrain from supplying deficiencies by additions of his own.

Douglas, Amanda Minnie.

Heroes of the crusades. Lothrop & Lee, $1.50.....j940.4 D75

Contents: The spirit of the crusades.—Peter the Hermit.—Hugh of Vermandois.—Godfrey of Bouillon.—Tancred.—Louis VII of France.—Baldwin III. — Guy of Lusignan. — Richard the Lion Heart. — Saladin.—Saint Louis.

Indian history for young folks. Harper, $3.00.....j970.1 D78

About King Philip, Pontiac, Tecumseh, Weatherford, Black Hawk and other Indian chiefs and their wars with the white settlers.

Prof. Hodge, of the Bureau of American ethnology, disapproves of the first chapter which is entitled "What we know about American Indians." The book on the whole, however, is interesting, fairly accurate and contains many illustrations and a map of the United States showing the Indian reservation.

Drake, Samuel Adams.

Making of the Ohio valley states. Scribner, $1.50.....j977 D78

Traces the establishment of British dominion on the Ohio, the advance of pioneers into the West, and the early history of the newly formed states.

Eastman, Charles Alexander.

*Indian boyhood. McClure, $1.60.....j970.2 E18

Dr Eastman, who is a full-blooded Sioux Indian, lived until 15 years of age with his tribe on the plains of the Northwest. He tells here of Indian customs and legends, Indian life and adventure, of his own boyish training, playmates, games, hunting, forest adventures, and of the bear dance, feasts and story telling.

Famous adventures and prison escapes of the Civil war.

Foa, Mme Eugénie.

Boy life of Napoleon, afterwards emperor of the French; adapted and extended for American boys and girls by E. S. Brooks. Lothrop & Lee, $1.25.....j92 N129f

About his childhood in Corsica, his life at the military school in Brienne, as a "king's scholar" in Paris and as lieutenant of an artillery regiment. Madame Foa's work was written 40 years ago; she was at that time a popular writer of historical stories and sketches for boys and girls in France. The present story has been adapted from the French original and enlarged in the light of recent research. For an interesting life of Napoleon read Seeley's "Short history of Napoleon I."

Dent, 3s. 6d j398 A65m

Contents: Story of the enchanted horse.—Story of the speaking bird.—Story of Ali Baba and the forty thieves.—Story of the fisherman and the genie.—Story of Agib.—Story of the Grecian king and the physician Douban.—Story of Aladdin.

A companion volume to "Fairy tales from the Arabian nights."

The fairy tales which the people of Asia, Arabia and Persia used to tell. The events are supposed to have happened in the reign of the great caliph, Haroun al Raschid, 786–808 A. D. It was not until the reigns of Queen Anne and George I that the people of England and France read them, for they were then translated into French by M. Galland. From the French they were translated into all languages, and this edition is from Galland's version. The poetry and a great deal that was dull and stupid is left out, and there are many illustrations.

Asbjörnsen, Peter Christen.

*Fairy tales from the far north; tr. by H. L. Brækstad.

Nutt, 6s j398 A79f

MacDonald, George.
*At the back of the north wind. Blackie, 3s. 6d.....jM146at
*Princess and the goblin. Blackie, 3s. 6d.....jM146pr
Mr MacDonald in his fairy tales teaches spiritual truths through allegories. It is to be wished that he had made the meaning of his allegories plainer to the reader. It is hard sometimes to distinguish the allegory from the flights of fancy.
The reader rises, however, from the reading with a stronger faith in things unseen and a deep feeling of the inadequacy of things mundane. Mr MacDonald's stories remind one of cathedrals, where purity and silence reign within, while the evil spirits, in hideous and fantastic shapes, cling lingeringly among the cornices and buttresses without.

MacLeod, Mary.
*Book of King Arthur and his noble knights. Stokes, $1.50. .....j398 M19

Raspé, Rudolf Erich.

*Tales from the travels of Baron Munchausen; ed. by E. E. Hale. Heath, $.30.....jR215t
This book of wonder-exciting stories, written to bring into contempt the exaggerations of the 18th century traveler's tales, has been appropriated by the children with that unerring instinct which led them to make Gulliver and Robinson Crusoe their own. It first appeared in England under the title of "Gulliver revived; or, The vice of lying exposed." The authorship was long douhtful and disputed. Modern research shows that it was compiled from floating legends of his fatherland by a learned German, one Rudolph E. Raspé. The book is rich in humor and satire.

Historic girls. Putnam, $1.25 ..... j920.7 B77

The doings of real girls who have lived in this work-a-day world. They read more like daring fiction than history.

Stories such as "Clotilda of Burgundy, the girl of the French vineyards."—"Woo of Hwang-Ho, the girl of the Yellow river."—"Elizabeth of Tudor, the girl of the Hertford Manor."

Story of the American Indian. Lothrop & Lee, $1.50.... j970.1 B77

Prof. Hodge, of the Bureau of American ethnology, says that "the opening chapter on the 'Ancient American' contains so many errors of fact as to make it misleading to the layman; but while the remainder of the book is not free from blemish, it covers the scope for which it was designed in a manner to warrant commendation."

True story of the United States of America, to 1898. Lothrop & Lee, $1.50 ..... j973 B77t2

From Columbus to Spanish-American war. Many illustrations.

Burton, Alma Holman.

"On no European battle-field was there ever a loftier exhibition of bravery and valor—exhibited by Union and Confederate soldiers alike—than at the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, Petersburg, Resaca, Kenesaw, Marietta and Atlanta." Preface.
The four volumes—"Drum-beat of the nation," "Marching to victory," "Redeeming the Republic," "Freedom triumphant"—read in this order form a connected history of the Civil war.

Custer, Mrs Elizabeth (Bacon).

Boy general. Scribner, $.50.....j92 C944cu Story of the life of Major-General George A. Custer. It describes the perilous adventures, the courage and the sacrifices of the daring troopers of the plains.

Dickens, Charles.

*Child's history of England. Dutton, $2.50.....j942 D55

This is, of course, one of the standards. Dickens is of the class of historians that Macaulay had in mind when he speaks of "the qualifications of the perfect historian." Dickens did have the imagination sufficiently powerful to make his narrative affecting and picturesque, but he did not have it under that control which contented itself with the materials at hand, nor could he always refrain from supplying deficiencies by additions of his own.

Dole, Nathan Haskell.

Young folks' history of Russia. Saalfield, $1.00.....j947 D69y

The first edition has been revised and brought down to 1895. Beginning with 800 A. D. the early chapters on pagan Russia are full of romance. The whole is written in an excellent style to maintain the interest throughout. Well indexed, fairly good illustrations.

Drake, Francis Samuel.

Indian history for young folks. Harper, $3.00.....j970.1 D78

About King Philip, Pontiac, Tecumseh, Weatherford, Black Hawk and other Indian chiefs and their wars with the white settlers.

Prof. Hodge, of the Bureau of American ethnology, disapproves of the first chapter which is entitled "What we know about American Indians." The book on the whole, however, is interesting, fairly accurate and contains many illustrations and a map of the United States showing the Indian reservation.

Drake, Samuel Adams.

The border wars of New England. Scribner, $1.50....j973.2 D78b

Partial contents: The sack of Dover.—Frontenac's winter raids.—A year of disasters.—Onslaught at Haverhill.—Six terrible days.—The sacking of Deerfield.—Futile siege of Port Royal.

Goss, Warren Lee.

Recollections of a private; a story of the Army of the Potomac. Crowell, $1.50 ..... j973.7 G69r

"The book is interesting as showing what a man experiences as he develops from a recruit to a veteran under the pressure of active service...One charming characteristic marks the whole—a simple, sincere, unboastful but genuine patriotism that leaves no doubt as to the honesty of the author whether fighting or writing. While deploring the necessity that required force to preserve the Union, he is filled with admiration for the personal gallantry of the men who supported the losing and lost cause. He nowhere scolds and throughout the book presents an unconscious model of the typical Union volunteer." Nation.

Griffis, William Elliot.

Goss, Warren Lee.

Recollections of a private; a story of the Army of the Potomac. Crowell, $1.50 ..... j973.7 G69r

"The book is interesting as showing what a man experiences as he develops from a recruit to a veteran under the pressure of active service ...One charming characteristic marks the whole—a simple, sincere, unboastful but genuine patriotism that leaves no doubt as to the honesty of the author whether fighting or writing. While deploring the necessity that required force to preserve the Union, he is filled with admiration for the personal gallantry of the men who supported the losing and lost cause. He nowhere scolds and throughout the book presents an unconscious model of the typical Union volunteer." Nation.

Griffis, William Elliot.

Japan in history, folklore and art. Houghton, $.75.....j952 G894

Higginson, Thomas Wentworth, & Channing, Edward.

English history for Americans. Longmans, $1.00.....942 H53

"I believe it to be the best introduction to English history bitherto made for the use of schools. It is just what is needed in the school and in the family. It is the first history of England that I have seen which gives proper attention to sociology and the evolution of political ideas, without neglecting what is picturesque and interesting to the popular taste. The device of placing the four historical maps at the beginning and end deserves special mention for its convenience." W. T. Harris.

Howells, William Dean.

Stories of Ohio. American Book Co., $.60.....j977.1 H85

The thread of the story is in prose, which binds together bits of the original poem in such a way that the whole is attractive and interesting.
Partial contents: How Gloriana, queen of Fairy-land, gave a quest to the Red cross knight; and of a dragon in a wood.—Of the defeat of the cruel Sarazin, and of divers grisly ghosts.—How the lion would not leave Una and how she dwelt with satyrs in a wood.—Of Orgoglio and the monstrous beast.—Of Sir Guyon and the bloody-handed babe.—Of the Cave of Mammon, of sober Alma and of the Bower of Bliss.

Stevenson, Robert Louis.

*David Balfour. Scribner, $1.50.....jS848d
Continues the adventures of the hero of "Kidnapped," whom the story carries over into Holland and France. The two stories are among the best modern examples of the romantic novel.

*Kidnapped; being memoirs of the adventures of David Balfour. Scribner, $1.50.....jS848k
"How he was kidnapped and cast away; his sufferings in a desert isle; his journey in the wild Highlands; his acquaintance with Alan Breck Stewart and other notorious Highland Jacobites, with all that he suffered at the hands of his uncle, Ebenezer Balfour of Shaws, falsely so called."

*Treasure island. Scribner, $1.25.....jS848t
A tale of pirates and treasure-trove.

"If sailor tales to sailor tunes,
Storm and adventure, heat and cold,
If schooners, islands and maroons
And Buccaneers and buried gold,
And all the old romance, retold
Exactly in the ancient way,
Can please, as me they pleased of old,
The wiser youngsters of to-day;
—So be it, and fall on!"

Stuart, Mrs Ruth (McEnery).
